PDA Connections is a text-PDA learning system designed specifically for nursing and health professions students, to show them how to incorporate a PDA into their course and clinical work. Filled with step-by-step instructions and screen shots, the text walks novice users through the basics students need to master Palm or Pocket PC devices. Classroom and clinical applications covered include notes, point-of-care data entry and access, clinical decision-making tools, and skill development tools. Each chapter includes learning activities in which students use actual PDA clinical software on their PDAs.
