Excerpt from The Canadian Freeholder: A Dialogue

The following Dialogue is supposed to have passed in the province of Quebeck in North-America, in the month of July, 1775, between a sensible and substantial Canadian freeholder, of the Roman-Catholick religion, and an English Protestant gentleman, who had long resided in that province, since it became subject to the crown of Great-Britain, but had been absent from it for five or six years preceding the date of this dialogue, which he had spent in the neighbouring English provinces of North America.
